

Who Can Apply for a Legal Name Change

---

In Saskatchewan you can change your name(s) if you:

- are 18 years of age or older
- are currently a resident of Saskatchewan and have a valid Saskatchewan Health Card as proof of residency
- have been a resident of Saskatchewan for at least three consecutive months in the 12-month period preceding your application, and
- are eligible to remain in Canada

If you were born in another Canadian province or territory and you change your name in Saskatchewan, eHealth Saskatchewan will notify the jurisdiction in which you were born of your legal name change. You will then be able to contact the vital statistics department in your birth province to request a new birth certificate from them with your new name on it.

In Saskatchewan you can also change the name(s) of your child(ren) or legal dependent(s) if:

- you have legal custody of the child or legal dependent
- you obtain the written permission of anyone else who has custody of the child or legal dependent, and
- the child or legal dependent is under 18 years old

If the child or legal dependent is 13 years old or younger, you do not need to get the written consent of the child as part of the application process.

If the child or legal dependent is 14 years of age or older, you will need to obtain the child's written consent as part of the application process.

Please note that special processes apply to change the given name(s) of a child under the age of one (1).
